

PIC Celebrates International Day of Persons with Disabilities

International Day of Persons with Disabilities is held on 3rd of December each year. On that day, the company organized an open day for the primary school for girls with special needs at the Bubyan Club, where the joyful day included many events, competitions and prizes.

Acting Manager of Communications and Services Department, Mr. Dawood Al-Amairi, stated that the company is eager to involve the local community in celebrating this international day, preliminary to its strategy of social responsibility and sustainability.

Al-Amiri also pointed to the role of the company in supporting various social issues on a continuous basis, especially those of special needs and the need to eliminate the stigma that comes around with their integration into the community. Their challenges will not clash with the fact that they have a strong will and value in the society and have ambitions and aspirations.

We need to further integrate this group into their community so that they can achieve progress and development for their community and home.

Al-Amiri stressed that the celebration of this International Day, which was determined by the United Nations, is also a day for the healthy persons too, to keep the people with special needs in our thoughts and prayers and try to help each according to our potential and energy to raise awareness, and for this to be an integral part of society. In the end, the company presented an honoring shield to the principal of the school, Mrs. Laila Al-Khudari, who praised the company's role in social responsibility and wished to repeat these events, to future enhance the bonds between the company and the local community.
